DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group 1, claims 1 and 2 in the reply filed on September 11, 2006 is acknowledged. The Examiner acknowledges there is no claim 7 in the application and regrets any inconvenience caused by the error.
2. Claims 3-6 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on September 11, 2006.

Drawings

3. The drawings are objected to for the reasons set forth in the attached Notice of Draftspersons Review. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites "a large number" of rolling elements, which is indefinite because there is no basis for comparison for what constitutes a "large" number of rolling elements.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "said raceway groove" in 13. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim because first and second raceway grooves are previously claimed, it is unclear which raceway groove is being referenced.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3682

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claim 1, as best understood, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Teramachi (US Patent 6,210,039).

Teramachi discloses a linear guide device comprising:

- a guide rail (1) extending in an axial direction and having a first raceway groove (51,52,53,54) extending in the axial direction

- a slider (4) having a second raceway groove (61,62,63,64) opposed to said first raceway groove and supported by the guide rail, movable with a large number of rolling elements

- the ball diameter ratio D_g/D_w is set in a range of 0.33-0.5

Regarding the limitation that one of the grooves be rolled, Teramachi discloses the grooves are formed, but does not specify a method, however the limitation of rolling is a product by process limitation which carries minimal patentable weight in a device claim. See MPEP 2113[R-1]. The grooves of Teramachi are capable of being rolled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Teramachi in view of Okita et al (US Patent 6,620,262).

Teramachi discloses all of the claimed subject matter as described above but does not disclose removal of a decarburized layer.

Okita teaches that it is a known problem for a decarburized layer forming on bearing races after forming processes, such as hot rolling, and that the decarburized surface layer is softer than the hardness of the remainder of the bearing. If this layer not removed, the capabilities of the bearing such as life and abrasion resistance may be deteriorated. It is a known process to remove the decarburized layer by turning or grinding after the forming process. (Col 2, line 66-Col 4, line 3)

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the process of removing the decarburized layer from a hot rolled bearing raceway as taught by Okita, the motivation would have been to prevent loss of bearing life and deteriorated abrasion resistance that is caused by leaving the decarburized layer intact.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
